Website Update

Great Western Mining Corporation plc, the AIM (AIM:GWMO) and ESM quoted mineral exploration company developing a number of copper and gold projects in Nevada is pleased to direct shareholders to the Company's updated website www.greatwesternmining.com.

The website has been updated so as to provide better information on the Company's activities and progress. At the same time a new corporate logo has been introduced.

Chief Executive David Fraser commented:

"We hope that the upgraded site will prove useful and informative to shareholders. On our operating activities, we announced last month the identification of two new high grade silver-copper prospects adjacent to our primary copper-gold target and this is an exciting development. As a result of our projects consistently returning quality results, showing the potential for a sizeable prospect, this is an appropriate time to update our site, which well illustrates the geology, geography and quality of our projects."
